

Patrick Henry, PharmD

CLINICAL ADVISOR

phenry@employershealthco.com | 614-763-0843

As a clinical advisor, Patrick works closely with the clinical team at Employers Health to provide clinical insight for benefit professionals around the country. He contributes information about new drugs, overall trends and makes plan design recommendations to promote health outcomes while reducing costs. In addition, he assists in delivering flu shots as part of the Employers Health Flu Immunization Program.

He has prior experience in various pharmacy settings including retail and specialty, and he also served as a managed care student intern for a statewide health insurance company. Patrick obtained his Doctor of Pharmacy and his undergraduate degree in neurobiology from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.